Holiday Dance Makes Concession to Comfort

Ways and Means Committee Chairman James C. Smith announces that the Association's dance July 3 will feature Fred Pavay and his orchestra from Washington. Pavay's music has been highly complimented.

As a special concession to the torrid temperature of these parts during the summer months, the committee has suggested that coolness be the order of the evening, and that dancers dress informally with an eye to comfort. Shirt-sleeve dancing will be quite acceptable for this dance. Let the thermometer be your guide.

Dancing commences at 9:30 P.M. and will last until 1:00 A.M.—giving you this time an additional thirty minutes of music.

Tickets may be obtained from Mr. Smith, 4-H Southway, and from the following persons: Lester M. Sanders; Mrs. Robert C. Porter; Mrs. Harold M. Beck; and W. A. Selby.

Admission will be 35 cents by ticket—40 cents at the door.

A. H. A. ACCEPTS GREENBELT HOSPITAL

The Greenbelt Hospital has recently been accepted for active institutional membership by the American Hospital Association, Miss Elizabeth Yurelich, Superintendent, announced last week. The American Hospital Association, which recognizes all hospitals rendering good service, has definite standards determining the eligibility of members of the Association. Some of the essentials of an accredited hospital are as follows:

1. That the hospital shall be staffed by physicians of good repute who are graduates of recognized medical colleges and licensed to practice medicine in the state in which they reside.
2. That the hospital shall have facilities for the diagnosis and treatment of the patients who are brought to it for hospitalization.
3. That a careful and accurate medical record of each case admitted for care to the hospital shall be kept and filed.
4. That the hospital shall be provided with the necessary laboratory facilities to assist in the diagnosis of disease.
5. That it shall be operated in an ethical manner and conducted along the accepted lines of hospital work.

FORTY FETE FORMER EDITOR

Forty staff members and true gave former editor Don Cooper a surprise party last Thursday evening at his new home, 6-H Ridge Road. Partly a housewarming, partly a farewell party in view of Don's coming trip to Takoma, Washington, the celebration was chiefly in honor of the long hours Don has devoted to working on the paper.

Cooper's jaw dropped perceptibly when, upon opening his door in response to a slight tap at the hour of 9:30 P.M., he saw the long procession of Cooperators which had gathered at Bargas' nearby.

Wife Evelyn was so flustered she couldn't immediately locate her clothes closet when the unexpected guests wanted to hang their wraps, or her dish cupboard, to get plates and glasses for the cake and punch brought by the guests.

A lamp for his study was presented Don, along with several poems from various admirers.

FIVE GET HIGH SCHOOL AWARDS

The scholarship awards for being on the honor roll all year were presented to Senior High School graduates Shirley Friedman, Bob McClary, Marion Benson, and James Bobbitt, at the recent commencement exercises. Candidates for the American Legion citizenship medals were elected by the students from a group nominated by the teachers. Frank Loftus and Shirley Friedman were chosen by their fellow students to receive the medals, which were presented by George O'Brien. Kiwanis Club Certificates of Honor were also presented to Bob McClary and Shirley Friedman.

A post-commencement service at the Community Church was conducted by Frank Loftus, Bob McClary, Shirley Friedman, and Phyllis Warner, at the invitation of Rev. Robert L. Kincheloe.

PRINCE GEORGES COUNTY TRAFFIC DEATHS

Prince Georges County has the highest traffic death record in the State, announced W. Lee Elgin, State Motor Vehicle Commissioner, last week.

In spite of a State-wide accident prevention drive sponsored by Governor O'Connor, the death toll for the first five months of this year is 14 higher than in 1939, according to Elgin. This year there have been 167 deaths as compared with 153 for the corresponding period last year.

HOUSE BUILDING PLANS BEGIN TO HAVE ACTUALITY

With a nucleus of 14 families, Greenbelt's new housing project began to take shape last week. The group of prospective home builders, all of whom have money available for a down payment, agreed to obtain an architect to draw plans for individual homes, and encouraged the committee to draw up a suitable ground lease, select a location, and secure a commitment for financing from the Federal Housing Administration. The group hopes to construct homes costing from $3500 to $5000, depending on the number of rooms. Down payments will be 10 per cent of the cost of the house.

The group will meet with the architectural sub-committee at 3 o'clock this Sunday afternoon at the home of Lucile Cooper, 4-D Southway, to go over floor plans. Tomorrow night in room number 24 of the Elementary School a meeting will be held at which Edward Fisher of the National Lumber Association will explain the principles of home construction, using two large table models to illustrate his talk. All are welcome to attend the Friday meeting, whether or not they plan to build immediately.

At the last meeting David Humphrey, chairman of the architectural sub-committee, discussed floor plans for a basic two, three and four bedroom house, and pointed out the value of constructing a unit which would lend itself to additions as the family needs might change. O. Kline Fulmer discussed the locations which might make suitable sites. The group favored two sites in particular, one on Crescent Road across from Parkbelt, and one on Ridge Road just beyond the new garden area. Both sites are wooded and near the community center. Final decision will be based on a study of the topography in its relation to drainage, cost of clearing, etc.

In his report on the work of the Housing Committee, Dayton W. Hull, chairman, said that plans were under way to arrange for the Works Progress Administration to install water and sewage mains in the lots to be built upon. WPA was reported to have men available for such a project and to be willing to pay 75 per cent of the cost, provided that the town government will put up the remaining 25 per cent. A committee of the Town Council will soon confer with WPA on this proposal.

Anyone who has not communicated with Mr. Hull regarding a desire to build should call him soon in order to be included in the group planning to build this summer and fall. Prospective builders need not be residing in Greenbelt at the present time.

Greenbelt Players Are in Competition for Cup

Tonight at the Arts Club in Washington representatives from the Greenbelt Players and 17 other local dramatic groups will meet for the presentation of WJSV's silver cup to the dramatic group winning the recent radio play contest. Max Wiley, of CBS, New York, will address the gathering.

KINSLEYS, LYDALU PALMER, VOTED OUTSTANDING Greenbelt's entry, "And The Angels Sang", written by John P. Murray, went on the air last February, including in the cast Bill and Marcia Kinsley, and Lydalu Palmer, who have since been judged Greenbelt's outstanding players by WJSV. Forty actors and actresses have been similarly nominated from the 18 groups, and from this number a radio stock company will be formed for future productions.

A Federation of the 18 dramatic groups has been formed through which WJSV will work in organizing the stock company. Lawrence Larmore, a former Greenbelter, has been named to the board of directors.

PLAYERS PLAN PICNIC

At a Players' meeting last Thursday a picnic was scheduled for July 20 at Indian Springs. "Members take note", says President Bill Kinsley. The possibility of putting on a musical show was also discussed.

EDUCATION COMMITTEE STUDIES HIGH SCHOOL

The meeting of the Education Committee of the Citizens Association to consider possible curriculum revision, teaching standards and student-teacher relationships of Greenbelt High School will be held tonight at 8 P.M. in the Social Room of the Elementary School.

The Education Committee is not to take sides in the issue but will serve as a clearing house for all complaints.

Edward Walther, chairman of the Committee, will preside at the meeting which is open to teachers and parents of high school children and all others interested.

Greenbelters are invited to attend the recital in the social room of the Elementary School tomorrow, Friday, June 28, at 8:15 P.M.

Greenbelt Tax Question Has Not Been Decided

Still unable to cut its Gordian knot, the Town Council at its regular meeting last Monday night moved closer to a fair and practical solution of the tax problem.

Finding that some means of special assessment, and probably a tax on garbage disposal, to be the most feasible way of assessing taxes in Greenbelt, but being uncertain as to the amount that must be levied, the Mayor appointed a committee-of-the-whole to determine just how much money should be raised from the tax.

Town Treasurer J. W. Rabbitt, submitted a report showing that four neighboring cities had a $100 personal property tax exemption; and were violating the State law in this respect just as Greenbelt was under the old tax ordinance. This report also suggested that from the standpoint of administration and the fact that other towns find a personal property tax "becoming more and more important" as a tax, the Council might deem it advisable to relegislate a personal property tax.

Members of the Council were in a state of indecision, when after weighing the matter of 1940 budget requirements, there was, on the one hand, a possibility that there would be extra funds "left over" from the amounts allotted to the various departments from of the Town; but on the other hand, unforeseen expenses (i.e. those incurred by the hospital) would call for all extra money in the departments and perhaps even more. With this in mind, the committee, composed of the Council members, will examine the Town budget, find how much can be counted on, and then assess a tax on garbage collection and disposal which will supplement these amounts in meeting expenses under this budget.

Town Solicitor Charles C. Marbury was present at the meeting and said that "legally the Council can assess taxes for services rendered," in this case, the services being garbage collection and disposal.

Town Engineer Harvey L. Vincent was congratulated by the Council upon his receiving a diploma from "The Institute for Training in Municipal Administration" in "The American City and Its Government".

Mayor George Warner said he was proud of an employee of the town taking an interest in such important subjects to the welfare of Greenbelt. Mr. Vincent is now enrolled at the same school for a course on finance.

Hospital Will Entertain Prince Georges Guests

This Sunday evening at eight o'clock the board of trustees in conjunction with the Auxiliary of the Greenbelt Hospital are holding a lawn reception at the hospital. Invitations have been sent to Prince Georges County officials, doctors, and health workers, who will be welcomed by the trustees and Auxiliary members acting as hosts. The evening's program will include a tour of inspection of the hospital, short entertainment and refreshments.

Lucile Cooper is in general charge of the affair, with Ethel Ackerman and June Wilbur as co-workers. Jo Gawthrop heads the group planning refreshments.

Both the Hospital Board and the Auxiliary are anxious to share with other Prince Georges residents the use of the local hospital, which is the only general hospital in a county whose population is 87,000.

PEOPLE'S PLAN NO. 1 REJECTED

The Maryland Public Service Commission announced last week that it had disapproved People's Plan No. 1 for adequate transportation in Prince Georges County, with one minor exception.

Although the full text of the Commission's decision is not yet available, its ruling apparently leaves the transportation problem in Greenbelt and the surrounding county in its present unsatisfactory condition.

It is believed that further action on People's Plan will be taken by the Prince Georges County Joint Committee on Transportation, probably by way of appeal from the Commission's ruling.

In the hearing on the plan proposed by the people of the county in an attempt to remedy the present transportation situation, substantial evidence was introduced to show that adoption of the plan for a trial period of time would result in increased revenue for the transit company as well as improved transportation for the various communities. The evidence submitted in rebuttal by the transit company was, in the opinion of the Joint Committee inadequate and unsatisfactory, so that the ruling of the Commission came as a surprise to the committee. It is for this reason that the Greenbelt delegates to the Joint Committee have indicated that they will urge that the legal battle be continued in an attempt to obtain a fair trial for what is believed to represent the most practicable solution to the transportation problem in the county.

TRASH TAX

Congratulations to Ed Walther and the Town Council for a novel way of raising municipal funds. Charging for garbage collection seems to have solved the tax headache.

The proposal is good, because it makes every family in town help to pay for the public services which every Greenbelt family enjoys, because it is easy and cheap to collect, and because it is in accordance with ability to pay since local families all have approximately the same incomes.

N.B. A garbage collection fee is also legal.

LACK IN HIGH SCHOOL

Dissatisfaction, criticism, and rumors accumulating during its existence indicate something amiss at Greenbelt High School. Last week's meeting of the students' parents did little to clarify the situation, but did confirm the growing realization that there is an educational problem confronting this vicinity.

Further meetings of the parents, and more extensive study by the Citizens Association Educational Committee may reveal that Prince Georges County schools are among the poorest in the state, and that Maryland's educational facilities rank among the poorest in the country.

The main charges levelled at our high school include inability to cope with disciplinary problems, insufficient education and training of the teachers, sparse curriculum, and a lack of coordination of the school program with that of Greenbelt Elementary School. The elementary school operates along "progressive" rather than "traditional" lines, and has drawn praise and enthusiasm in its success even though it is hampered by Maryland's seven-year school period as against other states' eight-year school period.

We have not yet had time to thoroughly digest the data, but we intend to report soon on the difference in operation and control of the elementary school which is more nearly a Greenbelt institution, and the high school which is definitely a county item. We also have interesting figures on the salaries and teaching requirements of Maryland schools as compared with those in other parts of the country.

Sufficient information is available to demand the serious attention of every citizen this summer to an investigation of the educational needs of this county and this state.

SLIPPERY MENACE

The wet, slippery, unprotected floors of the swimming pool and showers are a menace to all who frequent the pool.

Since the season started, there have been a number of people who have fallen and injured themselves. Although most of the injuries have been slight, there is one person who was hurt badly enough to necessitate hospitalization. The possibility of broken bones, fractured skulls, and even fatalities is so great as to warrant an immediate correction of this condition.

Covering the floors with rubber mats would enable the swimmers to maintain their balance, prevent injuries and make the Greenbelt Pool a safe place for all who enjoy using it.

A group of mothers met at the office of the Public Health Department last Friday night to hear talks on "Sex Education of Children" by Mrs. Mary Jane Kinser and Dr. S. R. Berenberg.

Dick Nelson received the citizenship medal at the Elementary School graduation rather than Douglas Warner, as it was reported in last week's Cooperator. Mention was also omitted of the duet sung by Fay Friedman and Anne Childress and the selections sung by the whole group.

Letters to Editor

A STUPID SITUATION

To the Editor:

Please place on record for past and future reference that my Letter to the Editor which appeared in last week's Cooperator under the paper's own caption, "Constituents Should Advise Lawmakers", was written from the standpoint of my personal views on the subject discussed and was not, of course, intended as a manifestation of the views of the Public Relations Committee, or through it, of any officer or member of the Citizens Association.

I should like to point out also, for the benefit of a few people who seem not sure of what I meant, that I termed "stupid" only a situation which I believe exists. The term was not aimed at any individual.

P.S.—Still speaking personally, (and I'll properly notify you when I'm not) I still feel that the situation exists—and it still appears to me to be far from an intelligent one.

COLLEGE FOR GREENBELT SENIORS

To the Editor:

Under regulations ineffect and conditions prevailing at the Greenbelt High School, it would seem that only about eight of the entire enrollment of approximately two hundred students may ever expect to receive recommendation from the principal to attend college or university. Colleges and universities generally are willing to accept on certificate from about two-thirds to four-fifths of the number graduated from any approved high school. Why should a high school principal refuse to allow a privilege offered by the higher institutions of learning?

Greenbelt is not a colony of mentally weak people. Hundreds of people with college and university degrees are numbered among its residents, and the children of these people certainly should not be denied the educational privileges and opportunities enjoyed by their parents and elders.

The Greenbelt High School should and will function properly as soon as the patrons of the school organize and insist that it do so. A movement is already under way looking forward to considerably improved conditions. The success of this movement will depend upon the interest and action taken by the parents. Attend the meetings which will be announced for this purpose.

— Milton R. Carson

Patriotism by Force

Last Thursday's papers carried pictures of a man carrying an American flag, of a crowd milling before a doorway, and a room filled with wreckage.

Newspapers reported that in the neighboring town of Rockville members of a religious sect, Jehovah's witnesses, were holding a meeting. Some people outside, having read previous accounts of refusals to salute the American flag by Jehovah's witnesses, decided that this was the hour to test the patriotism of those in the meeting. A crowd was gathered and a flag was produced. Two police were sent up to demand a flag salute from those attending the services. Upon refusal the crowd surged into the meeting, insulted and threatened those present, smashed furniture, and ordered several Jehovah's witnesses out of town. None of the attacking mob was arrested.

This—in America.

We know nothing about the beliefs of Jehovah's witnesses, but we probably would disagree pretty thoroughly with their ideas. We think their prejudice against flag salutes silly. They probably feel that some of our religious ritual is silly, too.

We do know this—that our forefathers came to this new land to escape Europe's tyrannies. Here they came and fought and founded a haven of refuge and freedom, where they could worship, and talk, and think the way they pleased. It was a glorious idea, and men have fought valiantly to preserve it. But that was long ago.

Now the newspapers glorify mob leaders, the police connive with the mob, and it is all justified by the war scare and our new-found patriotism which depends more upon flag salutes than upon serving our country.

We love our country and we believe in its institutions. If we are going to scrap our Constitution, if we discard our ideals, if we surrender our liberty to mob rule—then all this armament and war preparedness is a useless, blundering waster, for it will no longer matter whether we are under Hitler's tyranny or not. The Nazis called themselves patriots and they demanded flag salutes with the threat of mob violence too.

Meditations

by
Robert Lee Kincheloe
Minister to the Greenbelt Community Church

"Meditations on Rockville"

You have undoubtedly been reading of the Jehovah Witnesses and their patriotic difficulties in various sections of this country. Rockville citizens have just added another illustration to the record of these stupid persecutions.

In the first place, if our good, staunch American citizenry only knew enough to ignore the silly and irrational theology of these many cults, ninety per cent of this fuss could be avoided, the issues would never assume such unsavory glamor as they have. How many of the patriotic Americans who direct and promote these mob demonstrations know that the Jehovah Witnesses welcome the persecutions? These cultists like to be jailed and beaten; such is a tribute to their faithfulness to the Lord Jehovah. Biblical parallels of persecutions endured for the sake of belief abound in the sacred Scriptures, and these folk glory in the fact that the longed and hoped for day of tribulation has arrived. Scripture is being fulfilled. The "time is at hand, etc., etc." Naturally, there will be a few in this group like the Chiropractor in Rockville who will fight back, but the majority indeed welcome the onslaught. Such was the information received from one of their humble and hard-working members.

Not only should these small fanatical religious groups be ignored (for persecution fans their flame), but intelligent Americans loyal to their country and all it stands for, should resent the patriotic zealots among us who become even more fanatical and unbalanced in judgment than those they persecute. The way in which the war fever is rising in the land makes it very easy for self-righteous patriots to go out on the hunt for subversive witchery. A person isn't safe anymore from suspicion of unpatriotic activity and thinking if he gets a Deutsche haircut or disagrees with the policies of our Administration on how to keep this country out of Europe's war.

This "column" could be a "fifth". Who is the judge?

Community Health

S. R. Berenberg, M.D., Director,
Department of Public Health

Moderation should be the motto for all warm weather activities and sports. The rule that strenuous exercises should be confined to the cooler hours of the morning and late afternoon applies to adults as well as children and infants. Over-exertion in the hot sun may lead to heat stroke or exhaustion. The ultra-violet rays of the sun in sufficient quantities prevent rickets, but a great excess of sunlight over a large surface of the body leads only to uncomfortable parboiling.

Although all manner of illness is attributed during the summer to the swimming pool, it should be stated that aside from the increased susceptibility of children to upper respiratory infections, the pool per se is not the source of much illness. It is true that the sensitive mucous membranes of a child's nose, throat, sinuses and ears may be injured from prolonged contact with the chlorinated water of the pool so that germs already present in the nose and throat may lead to sinus trouble, sore throats, infected ears or even mastoid trouble.

Care should be taken to inspect one's feet regularly to detect any early signs of athlete's foot. The feet should be scrubbed well with soap and water before and after swimming. Soaking the feet well in the foot baths provided at the pool may help prevent the spread of this ubiquitous disease. Severe cases of this disease should be treated only under the guidance of a physician. Much time and money as well as annoyance may be saved by seeking proper medical advice instead of using widely advertised or quack remedies.

TUESDAY CLINICS TO CONTINUE THROUGH SUMMER

The Tuesday morning clinics (9 A.M.) will continue at the Elementary School as in the past. This is mentioned again because there have been the usual rumors that the clinic will be discontinued. All the school children who had positive Schick tests have received notices to that effect. These children should be immunized against diphtheria and may receive their inoculations by attending any of the Tuesday clinics. There is no charge for these services.

The Director is planning to make a personal tour of the sandboxes and playgrounds during the next couple of weeks. He will be glad to answer any pertinent questions mothers may have at the hour of his visit.

The use of force to eliminate the use of force leads not to universal peace, but to the intensification of hatred, the prelude to plans of revenge by arms.

Now that hot weather is here many people do not read quite as much as they do in the winter. However, probably some of these people do not know that our magazines circulate, being checked out for one week at a time. Below you will find a list of some of the magazines that we have in the library so why not come in and either read them while waiting to go to a meeting or to the movies or take some of the issues home and have an entire week to enjoy them?

For current events how about Atlantic Monthly, Current History, Forum, Harpers, Time, Life, Nation, New Republic, Readers Digest, Survey Graphic, Survey Mid-monthly.

For stories and fashions how about Good Housekeeping, Vogue, American.

For ideas about homes and gardens American, Better Homes and Gardens, House Beautiful and Good Housekeeping.

These are only a few of the magazines—come in and select exactly what you would like to read during a summer afternoon or a rainy, dreary day.

YOUNG PIANISTS GIVE RECITAL

Mrs. Robert L. Kincheloe presented six of her pupils in a piano recital Saturday, June 22, at her home, 6-G Crescent Road.

Parents and friends were present.

War is not the work of a demon. It is our very own work, for which we prepare, wittingly or not, in times of peace. But most of us sit blindfolded at the preparation.

THE POET'S CORNERED

THE POET'S CORNERED

Out of the darkness in which we grope
Comes a single ray of hope—
Dictators can't always lead men like cattle;
Even soldiers tire of battle.

Dictators spring up, but it's just as true
That they must die like other men do;
They may prevail for a while by force,
But their rule must cease as a matter of course.

They may seize a land and subject its folk,
But the neck eventually sheds its yoke,
And even the timid engage in strife
When they see that freedom's more precious than life.

So rule, dictator, rule and slay;
You may last for years—or one more day;
Whatever you do is done in vain,
For democracy will triumph again.

Pride and Prejudice

Part 5

Last winter the colored janitor of the Hammon Harwood house neglected to close the shutters of the house for the night. The next day he was questioned about his carelessness. He explained that he hadn't wanted to stay around alone in that house because "they were there again." Of course it wouldn't be too hard to imagine "they" were there in the early winter dusk of a house which still lacks electrical facilities.

But "they" do not come at twilight alone. Recently a bus driver was paying the entrance fee (25cents each) for his patrons. The lady who was on duty that afternoon, counted the money and thought the amount was incorrect. "Aren't you paying for the old lady," she asked. "What old lady," the amazed bus driver asked. The custodian insisted that a little old lady had been standing at his elbow and had just gone upstairs. The bus driver denied that an old lady had been among his party. Nor was she seen to descend with the others. Yet the custodian, a very efficient practical woman, remains positive that she saw such a person. I wonder what the bus driver thinks of the effect of an old house upon the feminine mind. If it were the spirit of Hattie how she must have writhed to see a crowd of young people running back and forth through the old domain.

Who can be blamed for feeling some trace of the many people who have lived within those walls during the 150 years. Their loving care has preserved it despite poverty, cold and discomfort. It now depends upon our generation if its life and history is to become and remain public property and an inspiration for the future.

Seven new speed-actuated traffic lights will soon be installed on the Washington-Baltimore Boulevard at intervals to reduce accident hazard in restricted areas, it was stated in a recent report issued by the Maryland Traffic Safety Committee.

Intersections for which these lights are scheduled are Arundel Avenue, in Hyattsville; University Driveway, Bowie Road, in Laurel; Dorsey Road, Jessups Road, Selma Avenue, Ridge Avenue and Rolling Road.

At its first public meeting last week, the new Takoma Park, Maryland, Town Council adopted a budget of $68,000, an increase of $8,000 over last year, but cut down taxes 100 cents per $100 to 80 cents.

As one item of business, the Council reappointed J. Crescent Bride supervisor of playgrounds at $100 a month, with six assistants at $50 a month.

This week I nominate for Greenbelt's Hall of Outstanding Citizens Donald H. Cooper, recent editor of the Cooperator. Now that he is not connected with the paper at the moment, my long-sought opportunity has arrived to put this article in. I have been foiled again and again, due to the former editor's all-seeing eye, in spite of much connivance with Assistant Editor, Lillian Schwartz.

Don Cooper's record literally shouts its own nomination. His leadership is unmistakable. As Editor of the Cooperator he has rallied to the cause of liberal community journalism a remarkable list of community leaders, who give freely of their already overtaxed time. So well has he built up the morale, the esprit de corps of this staff, that its members work painstakingly until all hours of the night, without pay and with little in the way of recognition.

He has brought to our paper a wealth of experience. He was editor of his college paper for two years; of "The New Era", a Tacoma, Washington paper; and of the monthly paper for the alumni of his fraternity. He was a reporter on the Tacoma Daily Ledger, has served for two years on the executive board of the National Boy Scout Press Association, and is a member of the national journalism honorary fraternity Alpha Phi Gamma. He has shared freely his experience and training, both in the week by week job of getting the paper out, and in a carefully planned, well delivered course in Journalism which he gave last fall.

He has polished off many of the Cooperator's rough spots; he has set the paper up with a style sheet of its own and has been admirably successful in getting it followed.

He has insisted that the Cooperator be a community paper, giving space to all organizations and to all citizens, whether he agreed with them or not.

He has championed vigorously the cause of free speech and of fair play. He has never denied, so far as I know, any of his staff the right to call a spade a spade. His own editorials have been forthright; unequivocal. He has demanded conscientious work; he has worked hardest of all. He has won the respect and loyalty of those who work with him.

Before being drafted for the Cooperator he worked equally hard as a member of the membership and ways and means committees of the Greenbelt Health Association and as a member of the board of directors of the same organization. In between times he earns his family's daily bread and goes to night school.

— Howard C. Custer

FROM THE CO-OP TIMES, JUNE, 1940

"What stand do we as Cooperators take on the question of peace for this country? Especially as peace regards the President's 'neutrality' stand. Our 'rights' in the Far East which we are prepared to guard—are they the 'rights' of a democratic free-trade agreement, or are they the 'rights' of an imperialistic economy? And what about mass production of munitions? What will we do with these 50,000 planes per year after we have them—or England has them? Can we maintain peace when all other nations are at war?"

"It's a crazy hodge-podge of questions that confront the voter today. He has great difficulty in preserving unbiased judgment on these issues when the war fever is conquering him. Speak for peace though we as voters will, the fact remains we're probably casting votes for war; for a war machine once created has to be used. The Cooperative Movement remains neutral—but Cooperators must face the issue, make a decision, and have the courage of honest conviction in their stand."

PAINTING OF GREENBELT HOUSES CONTINUES

The painting of twenty-two houses in one week is the record of the Greenbelt maintenance department, according to O. Kline Fulmer. Aided by the good weather, painting of the exterior of the houses is going ahead at full speed, redecorating of the interiors will be delayed until all the outside work is finished. Painting will be done, however, whenever a tenant moves.

To date the interiors of 114 houses, 110 two room apartments and 51 one room apartments have been painted. The crew of 13 painters who are now painting the exteriors will be maintained to do inside work.

The cost of chipping, filling and painting a house is ten dollars.

The first tests of the water in the swimming pool made by a water composition chemist confirm the testing of the Greenbelt chemist, Harry Rhodes, indicating that the contents of the pool are as pure as drinking water. In addition to these two tests the State Board of Health is the third source of check.

Mr. Rhodes maintains a daily check on the water, keeping the chlorine in the pool from 1/10 to 3/10 of a part per million.

There is a complete refilter of the 300,000 gallons of water every eight hours.

SHOE PROJECT CONTINUES TO SHOW GROWTH

With new patterns and colors for the summer season now available, business at the Greenbelt Shoe Project continues to improve, according to Elmer Brown, project manager. Besides the 58 families who are members of the group, Mr. Brown takes orders for shoes from many other Greenbelt citizens, and occasionally sends shipments to Washington, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and even to the West Indies, to fill orders of former members and of people who have become interested in the shoes while visiting here.

Formed last September to enable Greenbelters to make their own handcraft shoes, the shoe project has grown steadily since that time. Most of the members make shoes only for their own families, while Mr. Brown handles most of non-member orders. Membership in the group costs $5, of which $2 is an instruction fee. Shoes are $3.45 (up to size 7½) and $3.95 (over 7½) to members who make their own. One dollar is added if members ask to have their shoes made for them, and another dollar added is the price to non-members.

Asked about the future of the organization, Manager Brown saw its growth largely along present lines. "The type of work and the necessary arrangements with the manufacturer will limit our growth as an industry," he said, "but in view of the increasing interest being shown in our work, I think we shall continue our slow growth". Mr. Brown pointed out that the percentage of satisfied wearers is very high. There have been no complaints on the comfort of the shoes (only that it is almost impossible to shift back to "store-shoes" afterwards), and extremely few claims of unsatisfactory wear. The leather is of unusually high quality, and proves to outwear many heavier "store shoes".

The shoe project is open three nights a week, at its workshop in the basement of number 10 Parkway. Hours are 7 to 9 P.M., Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday. Pictures and a good many samples are on hand for all the standard patterns as well as the new summer styles. Mr. Brown wants all those interested to come down and try them on. About two weeks should be allowed to fill an order.

PM Woman's Page Alert to Topics

At last a woman's page that is genuinely interested in the problems of the home, children, health, foods, menus and food prices. P.M., the latest development in newspapers contains a section for the homemaker called "News for Living". The Editor Elizabeth Hawes will be remembered as the author of "Fashion is Spinach". The page includes a prevailing New York retail price list of foods each day. Low cost and medium cost menus, recipes and shopping lists ease the homemaker's job.

The paper is devoid of advertisements but contains a digest of advertisements carried in other New York papers. This digest does not guarantee or back any product but simply reports what the advertisement states.

AMERICAN RED CROSS BENEFIT PLANNED

Shirley Land, local dancing instructress, is planning an American Red Cross benefit program in Greenbelt for the middle of next month, with dancing, singing, recitations, songs and music by local talent. She welcomes volunteers and suggestions.

The Citizens Association committee in charge of arrangements includes Mrs. Linden Dodson, Bernard Jones, James C. Smith, and a member of the Public Relations Committee to be appointed by Joseph E. Bargas.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY CALLS FOR VASES

Have you any extra, unused vases kicking about the house? The hospital is badly in need of flower containers for its popular patients.

If you have such to spare, please take your vases to Jo Gawthrop, 29-B Ridge Road, or Marian Slaugh, 20-F Crescent Road, both on the ward committee of the Auxiliary.

Persons interested in southern Maryland beaches will be glad to hear of a plan to convert the unused Chesapeake Beach Railroad into a speedy highway that will run from Seat Pleasant to Seaside. Most of the right-of-way goes through farm land and hits only two towns, Marlboro and Ritchie.

Sponsors of the plan point out that land development in southern Prince Georges, impeded for years by transportation problems, would probably boom.

Safety Hints Given for Playtimes

The Recreation Department stresses safety to the school children all through the school year. Because there are some children, however, particularly those of pre-school age, whom this teaching cannot reach, the department asks parents to be sure their children understand the following fundamentals for safety in the playgrounds, on the lake, and in the pool:

PLAYGROUNDS

1. Sit down in the swings. One child in a swing at a time.
2. Do not play near the swings.
3. Hold on with both hands to the outer ring of the wave stride.
4. Use the sliding board sitting down, feet first. Children under six should use only the smaller slides.
5. Sit down on the teeter-totters, one child at each end.
6. Confine climbing to the jungle gym and trapeze bars.
7. Children under five should not play on large playgrounds unless accompanied by an adult.

THE LAKE

1. Only change places in boats at the dock.
2. In stepping into boats be sure they are held close to the dock, and step in the middle of the boat holding on to the gunwales as you do so.
3. Do not rock the boats.
4. No standing in boats after they leave the docks.
5. Children under 12 must be accompanied by an adult when using the boats.

THE POOL

1. Children under 6 are allowed to use only the wading pool.
2. Children under 5 must be accompanied by a responsible person when swimming at the pool.
3. Use the slides sitting down feet first.
4. There should be no running or pushing on the deck of the pool.
5. The diving area should be used for diving only.
6. One person should use the board at a time.
7. It is a good idea always to swim with a buddy.
8. One should not swim until an hour and a half or two after eating.
9. Never swim unless a life guard is on duty.
10. Do not expose yourself to the sun too long.
11. Do not stay in the water for too long a time. You are endangering your respiratory organs.

Local Milk Problem Discussed

By Consumers Union

The June issue of Consumers Union, a non-profit commodity analyzing organization with a membership close to 85,000, carried a feature article on the Milk Buying Club. The article describes the milk situation in the District and this section of Maryland prior to the milk marketing agreement and the effect its adoption had on the price of milk. It deals with the preliminary educational work done by the Club, the difficulties encountered, and its final success. Such nation-wide publicity will be read by thousands, and may help to solve similar problems in other parts of the country.

This year Consumers Union annual meeting was held at Massachusetts State College at Amherst, Massachusetts, and presented its material in the form of a study institute. Lectures on subjects ranging from automobiles to vitamins were given by experts to consumers and cooperators who were invited to attend.

Herbert E. Evans, Vice-president of Consumers Distribution Corporation was asked to speak on quality standards in consumer cooperatives, and throughout the meeting the cooperative movement was stressed.

WITH THE REPS

By John P. Murray

On Sunday the Reps absorbed their first licking in the Prince Georges County League. Carr Bros.-Boswell provided the upset and victory was never sweeter to them, having been licked by Greenbelt in every decisive game played.

The score of this one was 4-2 with each team adding up five hits. Curt Barker pitched well and batted in the only local scores but his team could do little more than hit one hoppers off McLaren of the opposition. Collisions were the order of the day and spills were a dime a dozen. Barker and Beale spilled in an effort to catch the same fly ball. Bauer landed in the dust when McLaren sought to field his bunt. Beale took a tumble over the second sack to add to his injuries and Harris playing first for the Carr's took a header into the creek bordering the field while chasing a foul fly at Bauer's, over-zealously.

The time has come to apologize. On this page we once mentioned that the baseball team had been tentatively dubbed, "The Nine Old Men". We take it back with a deep bow to Vince Holochwest and his gang. They look like ball players, act like ball players and from the records, play like ball players.

A tussle is being talked of that should make Greenbelt history. The Shamrocks vs. the Reps for the town championship. Four and one half innings of each sport will be played with the classic scheduled for the end of the current season. We'll bet on the Reps but our heart is not in it.

Next Saturday brings I.B.M. to the Greenbelt scene in a game scheduled for 3:00. This is the only team to ever hang up two consecutive wins over the Reps and needless to say the boys are pointing. Jack Smith and Barker are the probable starters. Saturday night will find Standard Linen moving in for an out-of-the-league battle. This one will go on at 8:00 at the old ball field.

Fred Wilde on his day off from umpiring pulled the old postman on a vacation stunt. He heckled Arbitrator Coleman with a loud and convincing tone when that gentleman called Trumbule's delivery illegal. The decision stood but Fred felt much better about the whole thing when Coleman deemed his criticism worthy of argument.

Goldfaden's Polliwogs will be a feature of the next Greenbelt Newareel. Aaron Chinitz, the town's most ardent art seeker-outer risked life, limb and camera and reputation obtaining shots of the lads in action. We never saw the Reps so well dressed, so clean shaven or as sensational in the field. Somehow they never looked that good in competition....maybe Ben had better buy a camera.

One of the Old Guard who first played softball in the original Greenbelt League was on hand Saturday. Spector, remember him as manager and pitcher for the old Emeralds, was impressed hugely by the Rep-Dr. Pepper tussle.

Ben Beale made an attempt to play on Saturday but that sprained finger caused Goldfaden to jerk him in the fourth. He did all right though with two runs scored in one official time at bat.

Saturday night's game with Suburban Gaslight Company was declared a forfeit but a game was played under the lights anyway. The visitor's line-up was augmented (or handicapped) by the addition of two local stars of the Greenbelt League. "No Hit" Reamy and Slugger Schultz performed in the opposition outfield but even their stellar efforts proved insufficient to stop the Reps and the locals won, 16-7. Bob Marack did the hurling and although hit freely was never in serious trouble. None of the batting averages are affected by the game because of the forfeit so we will make no comments on the stars.

The Greenbelt Tennis team had its final try-outs on Sunday and on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of this week the squad will practice for next Sunday's opening match with Westover. The team: Goldfaden, Blanchard, Murray, Skinner, Plackett, Fulmer, Schoeb, Hull, and one or two others as yet unknown. Sunday's match will be at 11:00 A.M.

Doris Dungan To Coach Tumbling Club

Fifty girls of the Elementary School have joined a Tumbling Club to meet once a week throughout the summer. These girls will keep limber during the warm months as well as work up an act for the Town Fair in September. They will also participate in some of the clown acts and stunts in the two water pageants to be given by the Recreation Department during the summer.

The girls will meet with Miss Doris Dungan, physical education instructor for their first practice session Monday afternoon, in the gym. Thereafter the workouts will be held out of doors. Any girl in town who is above the second grade may join.

Athletic Club Ahaesy Comments

Ohi Ohi these predictions. Even while I was writing that it appeared the Jokers were a cinch to cop the first half championship, the Badgers were defeating them to the tune of 12-11. As a result the Badgers went into a tie with the Jokers for the league leadership.

Monday night June 17 can be tagged as "upset" night for in the second game the Dodgers upset the Cubs 12-6 for the second surprise of the night.

Tuesday, June 18, found three games scheduled. In a postponed game played on the new diamond the Deuces scored seven runs on three hits, while the Jokers were only able to muster six runs on six hits. This dropped the Jokers from the American League lead. At the old ball diamond the Aces felled the Esquires 11-2, and the Giants walloped the Pirates 19-5.

Wednesday, June 19, found the Braves and the Cubs furnishing the fireworks. At the end of the regulation seven innings the score was deadlocked 11 all. The Cubs claim the Braves agreed to an extra inning due to the fact that a shower had temporarily halted the game. The Cubs scored four runs in their half of the inning and then deliberately struck out in order that the game might be finished before 8 o'clock. In the Braves half of the extra inning the first man up struck out and it was then that the Braves insisted the umpire call the game, which he proceeded to do. At this point bedlam broke loose and only the cool-headedness of some players prevented injury to a "certain" player. (Guess who). In the second game the Badgers bested the Cubs 10-6.

Thursday, June 20, the Jokes snapped back in stride, winning 15-6 from the Aces; the Dodgers repelled the Pirates 15-3.

Friday, June 21, the Clubs amassed nine runs in a first inning slaughter on would be pitcher Bauer and the Deuces with a total carnage of 15 runs to 9. The second game found the Badgers continuing their winning streak with a 11-3 victory over the Esquires.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK

Schuls still setting the pace in the National League with an .812 average..... Goldfaden's hitting—he tops all American League hitters with a .571 average..... The ending of the Braves and Cubs game on Wednesday night. Action galore.....

Shamrocks Turn Tables on Marines

"Merrily we roll along," say the Shamrocks as with blood in their eyes they journeyed to Quantico Saturday to take the scalp and revenge on the Marines for their having handed them their only defeat of the season. Score Shamrocks 5, Marines 3.

Boggs pitched superb ball except for the fifth inning when with two singles and an error the Marines were able to score their first run. Again in the eighth they scored two runs with two singles, an error and fielder's choice. McDonald played an inspired game in the field pulling three spectacular plays to save potential scores. Demon Bozek was a terror on the bases and worried the opponents no end trying to keep him close to the bag.

Sunday, June 30 at 2:30 P.M. they engage the Brookland Hardware aggregation on the new ball diamond.

Capitol Heights Defeat Shamrocks 10 = 8

Well we can't win them all and so the local lads dropped their second game in ten starts to Capitol Heights to the tune of 10-9. Bob Thompson making his initial appearance as a hurler ran into trouble from the first inning until removed in the fourth. In the third they gave up five runs on three hits, three errors and a walk. In Greenbelt's second inning they put across five runs on four hits, a walk and an error. Holochwest who relieved Thompson gave up only two hits in 5-2/3 innings and had marvelous support. Bozek of the locals and Faircloth of the winners both brought cheers from the spectators for their sparkling fielding.

Reps Pepper Peppers

With apologies to the advertisement which counsels the taking of Dr. Pepper at "10 2 and 4", Goldfaden's Reps took them at three last Saturday afternoon by a score of 12-4. This is the same margin by which the Reps knocked off the Peppers earlier in the season.

Eddie Trumbule did the hurling and carved out a six-hit performance. Ray Taylor staged a one man defensive show with a busy day at shortstop where he personally retired no less than five of the first seven men up with either put outs or assists. Offensively, that reformed Brooklynese, Ernie Sanchez, provided the spark. A perfect day with four times at bat, four hits and three runs scored, went into the records and now we've seen everything. Goldfaden plastered one into the baseball infield for his weekly homer and Petersen playing the last four innings at second base handled two chances flawlessly. If only the boys would look like that against I.B.M. next Saturday—

JOSEPH O'LEARY RESIGNS POST

Due to the pressure of private employment, Joseph O'Leary has resigned as a member of the board of directors of the Greenbelt Health Association. Mr. O'Leary has served on the board since January, 1939. Temporary appointment of Abraham Chasanow to fill the vacancy was decided upon by the board. Mr. Chasanow has been chairman of the legislative revision committee of the Association. He will serve in the new capacity until the regular membership meeting July 24, at which time a member will be elected to complete Mr. O'Leary's term, which expires in January, 1942.

Mr. O'Leary has also resigned as chairman of the equipment committee of the Association. No appointment to fill the vacancy has been made.

CUBS HOLD COUNTY FIELD DAY

Cub Pack #202 of Greenbelt and their parents will play host at a field day this Saturday afternoon to the other Cubs of Prince Georges County and their parents. About 80 Cubs are expected from outside Greenbelt to join in the contests, games, and swimming in the Recreation Area, starting at 2 o'clock. A picnic, campfire, and songfest at Indian Springs will wind up the gala affair.

If enough energetic parents can be mustered there will be a Parent-Cub baseball game, says Cubmaster Dwight Ellis.

Each Cub Den is being asked to arrange for its own picnic supper.

RECITAL BY PUPILS OF MRS. PALMER

Tomorrow evening at 8:15 pupils of Lydalu Palmer are presenting a musical recital in the Social Room. All are cordially invited.

Vocal soloists are Anne Childress, Therese Hedges, Janet Neff, Doris Asher, Marita Freeman, and James Griggs. Betty Andrus was to have taken part, but has been prevented by her appendicitis operation.

Blake Palmer will perform on the trumpet, and his brother Dick on the guitar. Mrs. Denzil Wood is the accompanist.

AGENDA FOR CITIZENS ASSOCIATION

Greenbelt citizens will have an opportunity next Monday night (July 1) to discuss an addition to the by-laws providing for the publicizing in advance of Citizens' meetings of resolutions having to do with national or international affairs.

Also up for discussion will be a proposal that the Association sponsor some kind of benefit for the American Red Cross.

Finally a vote will be taken on the suggestion that the Association recess for the months of August and September.

MRS. GLUCK HAS BAD FALL

Last Wednesday, June 19, Mrs. Eleanor Gluck, sister of Edward M. Walther, had a severe fall in the shower room just before entering the swimming pool. Her injuries included contusions of the face, legs and back.

She was confined to the Greenbelt Hospital for a few days but is now at home where she is rapidly recovering.

CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES EXCESSIVE

Bids for a laboratory building for the United States Bureau of Fisheries in College Park, Maryland, will be opened July 5.

The laboratory will be three stories and brick, and will cost $100,000. There will be an experimental canning laboratory, nutrition laboratory, nutrition feed room, and laboratories for bacteriological, microscopic, optical and chemical work.

Attend the recital to be presented by Lydalu Palmer tomorrow evening in the social room at 8:15 P.M.

BEETLE ATTACK LAUNCHED

"Flash!" Eastern sector attacked by bean beetles; counterattack not sufficient to subdue pests: Liquid spray laid down by gardeners proves little resistance to foe. Garden 47 entirely surrounded by string, but fortification insufficient to keep enemy from breaking through: Plot 92 being attacked from rear, resistance very weak.

Cutworms digging in on Western front, dissection of plants expected momentarily. Signs of armored potatoebugs noted in entire area, Blitzkrieg attack expected at first sign of rain. Moles have succeeded in tunneling underground near central road, causing great damage to peanut growers. Reconnaissance flight of grasshoppers sighted near by; conflict not expected to last much longer unless it rains, as enemy can not survive without vegetation.

NEW LABORATORY AT COLLEGE PARK

The Senate campaign investigating committee, under the chairmanship of Senator Gillette (D., Iowa), last week announced that both Democratic and Republican congressional candidates had spent too much money in the Maryland primary campaigns.

According to statements filed according to law, Senator Radcliffe spent $107,241.57, and his unsuccessful opponent, Howard Bruce, $97,390.59. Republicans Harry Nice and William Broening spent $24,645.56 and $4,000, respectively.

Chairman Gillette, reported that there were no violations of the law, or improper expenditures, but that in comparison to the campaigns in other states there was a tendency in Maryland to spend too much money for the public good. He indicated that a man of moderate means would be unable to run for office in the Free State.
